Here we go!

As we begin another school year, Curio.ca is excited to offer educators the very best of CBC and Radio-Canada content on our streaming platform. Our Fall 2016 catalogue highlights new content as well as some of our most popular programs.

Curio.ca is a uniquely Canadian platform that offers an extensive collection of documentaries, news features, dramas and kids’ programming from CBC and Radio-Canada. The platform’s diverse offering allows your students to deepen their understanding of contemporary issues, explore the world and develop critical-thinking abilities in a user-friendly, technology-based environment.

Cultivate curiosity

Curio.ca helps you give your students the fuel to ask great questions about ideas, big and small. With curriculum-relevant resources for science, geography, history, Indigenous studies, social justice, health, business and more, our streaming platform offers students and educators thousands of hours of content to inspire exploration, ask questions and satisfy curiosity.

More than a streaming video platform, Curio.ca is a curated learning environment for educators and students—accessible in the classroom, at the library or at home.

REFER-O-SCOPE

TWO-PART COLLECTION

This series illustrates the various symptoms of psychosis and serves as an invitation to discover the refer-O-scope assessment tool designed by the Société québécoise de la schizophrénie.
In 2006, a Grade 3 teacher in Quebec subjected her students to a "lesson in discrimination," in the hope that experiencing it would help them understand the distress of students who are ostracized because they are different. The resulting documentary stunned television viewers at home and around the world.

Today, the children are grown and from their new perspectives as young adults, they take another look at The Lesson. Why did some of them reject the privileges that their classmates so enthusiastically accepted? And most important: does one ever truly heal after enduring abuse as a punching bag for fellow students?
